Junior-Senior Dance Enjoyed By Many

Couples Swing to Music Of Pleumer Bros.' Band

At Pingry's last dance of the season we bid goodby to a swell group of fellows who we heartily hope will be able to tear themselves away from college life in order to stop in and say hello to their old friends.

Old Pingry Tradition

The Junior-Senior Dance which is annually given by the Juniors in honor of the departing Seniors is one of the oldest traditions of the school.

Dance Committee Does Fine Work

Refreshments were served by the dance committee who also did an excellent job of decorating the gym. The committee responsible for the many enjoyable dances that we have attended this year was headed by Fred Sutro who was supported by Archie Smith, Burr Greene, Jim Crowell, Pierce Cassidy and Dave Wilson. Archie Smith and Burr Greene will be co-chairmen for the forthcoming year and Dick Hamilton will be the only new member.

Good Attendance at Dance

The Pingry Gymnasium was well filled and everyone enjoyed dancing to the familiar strains of the Pleumer Brothers Orchestra.

his letter in life. So far as is known, Pingry is the first school to establish such an award. A number of colleges have similar awards.

High Standard Set

The selection of Mr. Mathey as the first recipient sets an exceedingly high standard for the future. In choosing Mr. Mathey to receive the first scroll, a typical illustration is presented of a Pingry boy who has brought honor and distinction to himself and his school before graduation and has continued to do likewise later in life. In 1908 Mr. Mathey won the National Interscholastic Tennis Championship for Pingry. He later presented the school with the trophy which he won in this event, and it is now in annual competition for the school championship.

Phi Beta Kappa Man

While at Princeton, Mr. Mathey won numerous intercollegiate championships, and at the same time, through his high scholarship record, he was elected to Phi Beta Kappa. From 1917 to 1919, he served with distinction as a Captain in the United States Army in France. He was decorated by the King of Belgium with the Order of the Crown.

Buddy's Master Thanks Paper for Eulogy of Dog

Morris Frank Acknowledges Obituary of Famous Dog

We are in receipt of a very nice letter from Mr. Morris Frank of the Seeing Eye, Morristown, N. J., concerning our notice of the death of his great dog Buddy whose death was reported in the May 27 issue of the Record. His letter is printed below:

"Students of Pingry School

Elizabeth, New Jersey

Dear Friends:

"I have received the May 27th copy of 'The Pingry Record' and want to thank you all for your very lovely expression of sympathy. It is indeed hard to lose a dear friend, and you can well understand, that is what 'Buddy' was. I am very grateful, however, for the ten years of glorious friendship we had together, and to the last, she was true to her name of The Seeing Eye's pioneer.

On the morning of the day she died, she led me from my apartment to the car and from the car to my office here at the school, where she received her morning's treatment by the veterinarians. Naturally I was with her; and while petting her, she licked my hand, sighed, and passed away. I know she was in no pain, but simply went to sleep.

"The work she has started will be a living tribute to her name and to her courage. What more can anyone ask.

"Let me thank you once more for your kindness in thinking of me at this time, and with my regards to you all, I remain

Very sincerely yours,
Morris S. Frank."

condition of the Spanish children and also of the attitude of the average Spaniard toward a Civil War.

The Service Committee is the only organization which is able to serve on both fronts and for this reason the speaker was in an ideal position to state the Spanish case.

Another subject which Mr. Reich discussed was the future of youth in America, and in doing so he brought out the point that while American frontiers no longer are physical, there do exist greater internal frontiers which challenge American citizenry. He pointed out that while opportunity for great success in business life has greatly diminished in the past generation, there are now tremendous opportunities for the young men going out into the world to do real service for their country and humanity.

The Service Committee is sponsoring many different approaches to the problem of political refugees who are seeking a haven in this country. He told about several specific opportunities which are being offered to these people to make a place for themselves in American social life. He pointed out that many of these refugees are not Jewish as is commonly believed, but are rather people who are not in sympathy with the totalitarian governments to which they have formerly belonged.

The Literary Club was very fortunate in having Mr. Reich, for he has not only received attention in the newspaper columns of major newspapers over the world, but his talks have also received comment in the editorial columns of many of these papers.

The club wishes to express its gratitude to Mr. and Mrs. Oswald for their hospitality, and also to Mr. France for bringing Mr. Reich to Elizabeth for this occasion.

cently held at the school. The winner of the new cup was John B. Christensen, while honorable mention in the contest went to Thomas C. Wickenden, James A. Reed, Jr., and H. Westcott Cunningham.

Another new prize awarded was a medal given by the Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute Alumni Association to Arthur Oswald who attained the highest scholastic average in mathematics and science for the year.

Cum Laude Elects Six

Mr. George E. Dimock, as president of the Pingry Chapter of the Cum Laude Society, and Mr. Springer inducted the newly elected members of the class of 1938 into the Society. These members, in order of their scholastic rank are: F. Thomson Henshaw, Thomas C. Wickenden, Richard H. Staehle, Jr., Paul R. Slutzker, T. Stanwood Kenyon, Jr., and John L. Felmeth. The Cum Laude Society was founded in the Tome School in 1906, and has many chapters throughout the country in preparatory schools. It is the equivalent of Phi Beta Kappa in college, and boys are elected on the basis of scholastic average.

Bailey Cup to Kenyon

The Bailey Cup for excellence in English was presented to T. Stanwood Kenyon. This cup, originally awarded at Union College, Schenectady, to an undergraduate who had contributed the most to the college, was presented a number of years ago to Codman Hislop, a graduate of Pingry in the class of 1926, while the latter was student in Union College. Mr. Hislop turned the cup over to Pingry, to be awarded annually to the member of the fifth or sixth form who had done
