LIVING/DINING AREA

The living and dining setting of Mejur Casa is designed with luxury in mind and features an open plan design style, which allows for improved ventilation and lighting. The living and dining areas like the rest of the house feature large window areas that allow for cross ventilation and ample lighting conditions.

MASTER'S BEDROOM

The master's bedroom is spacious and designed to take advantage of the view across the site, there is a big glass door that leads to a balcony where the occupant can enjoy the view or just relax.

The masters bedroom also like most of the other parts of the house has very little need for artificial ventilation as there is ample ventilation owing to the large sliding glass door as well as the two other windows on the adjacent side of the room. There is however provision for AC units should one feel the need to cool the room artificially.
