Nursing and retirement homes are most common solution for the people with chronic diseases and dementia.

Unfortunately, nursing homes are unadapted and for people living with dementia.

Nursing homes have lack of staff, staff is unpaid for a job they do, facilities and system is inappropriate and aren't prepared for the modern challanges like pandemic of Covid-19.

Population of SE Europe in good health doesn't have custom to use nursing homes because of their offer of services, unadapted spaces and programs they have.

The fact is that the most nursing home users have experienced dementia!

Whether PwD can continue a normal life within nursing home that implies:

- living in the moment and not surviving,
- connecting with other people and not living next to other people,
- competing with others and not remembering,
- being supportive of others and not a burden of the institution,
- work and being active rather than being passive and expecting from another!"

Centre for dementia want to carry out a quite new vision of housing for people with cognitive decline and dementia.

This is the new concept of living to older adults and people living with dementia that desire to overcome problems with which meets people living in nursing homes and to solve problems of people living in own homes alone or with partners.

Community has the full contribution to society and live with society, not on margins and out of events.

On that way,
Centre for dementia desire to overcome barrier and change of mind at people in SE Europe, and also at authorities, to adopt this opportunity as solution that solve challenges of modern societies and that population of SE Europe discard prejudice.
