READ THESE NOTES CAREFULLY

You have 20 minutes to prepare for 10 minutes of oral examination immediately afterwards.

While preparing you may consult your textbook and/or a dictionary (printed book or on-line). To help focus your thoughts and ensure you have the words you need to say what you want, you may make written notes, on paper or using an electronic device. But you will not be permitted simply to read from your notes in the oral examination itself.

The oral examination will be based on the CEFR A1 Conversational Criteria that you have worked through in class.

One section in the oral examination will seek your opinion on a specific topic. This topic will be:

GOOD WAYS OF SPENDING FREE TIME

The examiner will introduce this topic by saying:

Pëth yw dha opynyon adro dhe fordhow dâ rag spêna termyn frank?
