Students should also not hesitate in drawing colour diagrams. Tips for Zoology Paper I Section A Non-chordata and chordata: Classification should be done thoroughly as it's given in Barnes' textbook Pay attention to general essays rather than type studies Always correlate things from evolutionary viewpoint -Draw as many diagrams and flow charts as possible Students should cover all theories. In chordate description, compare the phyla phylogenetically and anatomically. Comparative anatomy diagrams should be coloured. Section B The most scoring parts are Economic Zoology, Bio Stats and Bio Instrumentation. Students need to focus on topics related to developments in India in Economic Zoology. Tips for Zoology Paper I Section A To prepare Cell Biology and Genetics, students need to follow the same advice as provided for these two topics in Botany. However, you need to correlate cellular processes with human physiology and human disease conditions. In Genetics, student should also mention the possible human welfare applications. Peripheral questions are generally not asked. Section B Biochemistry and Physiology Practical Bio-chemical pathway with structural formula of molecules are important. Prepare from medical bio-chemistry and physiology books. Represent most information through flow charts. Always draw relevant anatomical diagrams. Development Biology If physiology and biochemistry are prepared thoroughly, then this part can be prepared only for short notes. Colored drawings are a must. Students need to practice them properly. The study-material will be available to you as digital non-downloadable documents hosted on our secure learning portal and our learning app on Android and iOS platform.If you prefer printed study-material, you have an upgrade option. You can know about the upgrade option by speaking with one of Evolution's course advisors.It is always better to have a background in the subject for which you are joining Evolution's Guided Self-study Course. With this background, you will be able to use the study material faster and more effectively. You can develop a reasonably acceptable background in the subject by reading certain basic books, which we will suggest in the very first part of the self-study course. Yes. For most of the courses, you can get the printed version of the Self-study Course Materials by opting for a paid upgrade. For more information, you are welcome to speak to one of our course advisors.There are 4 main reasons for this transition.1. Delivering online allows us to continuously update the content.2. It allows us to reduce the course fee and make the course affordable to most students.3. It gives you the freedom to access your course materials anytime, anywhere.4. Weekly live sessions and discussion forums are feasible online only.Plus, you always have an option for an upgrade to get the printed copy of the materials.Normal download option to a local on-device folder is not available. But, if your course is available on Evolution Learning App, then you can download and save the material within the App for offline reading. This is helpful when you do not have a very reliable internet connection.For browser based access, such an option is not available.1- 3 years of access for full term GS Self-study Courses and Integrated Self-study Courses depending on the package opted for. 1- 3 years of access for full Self-study Courses of optional subjects depending on the package opted for. 6 months - 1 year's access for short Self-study Courses, such as a module of General Studies, a module of an optional subject.Yes. We let you view a cross-section of our study material before you join. If you like what you see, you will love what the rest of the course has to offer. You can access your course from only one device - a personal computer or a mobile device or our App.Login from a second device will fail and such an attempt will automatically block your account.We have included a good number of practice questions in each Self-study Course offered by Evolution. You are welcome to submit some answers for faculty's feedback on discussion forum. This will help you sharpen your answer skills.Please note that Evolution Test Series is a separate programme and not a part of the guided self-study course. You can join it separately at discounted fee options for Evolution's existing students. You will have access to the weekly live sessions by the faculty to address your doubts and to guide you for the examination. Moreover, you can reach the faculty directly through e-mail to discuss your queries and issues. Our faculty will respond b email or call depending on the nature of your query.We have zero-tolerance policy for piracy. Our platform has in-built and continuously updating security features to detect attempts for multi-device login, attempts to download course content and attempts to capture the screen.Such accounts are automatically and permanently blocked. Since we let you view a cross-section of chapters from our study material, we assume that you have taken an informed decision to join a Self-study Course.Therefore, we do not offer refunds.All our Self-study Courses have extremely reasonable fee, which is significantly lower than the classroom course or online course for the same subject. Running our service and supporting students is a significant undertaking, so we do not offer discounts.The option is available when you pay online with credit card issued by ICICI Bank, Axis Bank, HSBC Bank & Kotak Mahindra Bank. EMI amount will be added to your monthly credit card bill for the duration you choose. Bank charges will apply.
