

1. CONSENT

By using our website (<https://www.radiclegroup.co.za/>), you consent to the use of cookies to track your activity on it. This Cookies Policy sets out the rules that govern our use of cookies. Refer to this Cookies Policy for a description of the cookies which may be saved to your computer and how to control them. You are required to keep up to date with this Policy to be aware of any changes that may become relevant from time to time.

The information we collect using cookies helps us understand users of our website better, so that we can provide a more focused user experience. Cookies basically have two functions:

- a) to remember information previously entered by users; and
- b) to save site preferences, and records users' browsing activities (e.g. which pages are visited, each time and how often buttons are pressed).

We use cookies principally because we want to make our website user-friendly and work more efficiently, and we are interested in anonymous user behaviour. Cookies are also used to provide information to owners of websites. Generally cookies do not store sensitive or personally identifiable information such as your name and address or credit card details.

In the unlikely event that our website uses cookies to store personal information about you, Radicle Group (Pty) Ltd ("Radicle Group", "we", "us", "our") encrypts the personal information to prevent unauthorised use by anyone else.

2. WHAT ARE COOKIES?

Cookies are most often small text files that websites may put on a visitor's computer or mobile device while browsing the website. They are used for many different purposes. For example, they can:

- a) help search engines remember that you want your search results in English;
- b) help a website remember your preferences so that you don't need to customise it every time;
- c) help websites to deliver a better service by showing you the content most relevant to you;
- d) identify and resolve errors; and
- e) analyse how well a website is performing.

The most common function of cookies is to remember bits of information that help make browsing the web easier and more hassle-free for you.

All modern browsers have tools to help you delete or block cookies. But it's important to remember that many websites- including Radicle Group's website(s)- need cookies in order to function properly. By disabling or deleting cookies, you also disable certain personalised features, and you may not be able to take full advantage of some of the website's features.

For greater detail about cookies, here are a few websites for reference:

www.allaboutcookies.org / www.youonlinechoices.eu / www.termsfeed.com

3. WHAT TYPE OF COOKIES ARE THERE?

- a) Strictly Necessary Cookies. These are cookies that are required for the operation of our website. They include, for example, cookies that enable you to log into secure areas of our website. These cookies, for instance, allow you to navigate back and forth between pages without losing their previous action from the same session. These cookies must be present for our website to provide the basic functions of the website. Because these cookies are strictly necessary, we do not need to ask for your consent to use them.
- b) Analytical/ Performance Cookies. These cookies collect information about how visitors use a website, for instance which pages visitors go to most often. The information gathered does not identify any individual visitor and is aggregated. It includes the number of visits to our website, the websites that may have referred them to our website and the pages that they visited on our website. These cookies may also show us which email visitors may have clicked through from in order to visit our website, and whether you opened an email we sent you.

Analytics cookies, set using third-party web analytics software, allow us to monitor our website traffic. These cookies may also tell us how many of our visitors are male or female, and may summarise the number of visitors who fall within certain age ranges, or certain interest categories. However, this sort of information is not linked to any individual; it just shows us what percentage of our visitors fall in particular categories. Performance cookies are further used to enhance the performance and functionality of our services but are non-essential to their use. However, without these cookies, certain functionality like videos may become unavailable.

- c) Functionality Cookies. These cookies allow our website to remember users' site preferences and the choices they make on the website (such as your username, language, and region) and provide enhanced, more personal features. They are also used to prevent us from offering you a service that we already offered or a service that you declined. These cookies can also be used to remember changes you have made to text size, fonts and other parts of the webpages that you can customise.

These cookies may also be used to provide services you have asked for such as watching a video or comment on a blog. The information these cookies collect may be anonymised and they cannot track your browsing activity on other websites. They can be first-party, third-party, session or persistent cookies. They are tailored to respond only to the service requested by you. By using our website, you agree we may place these types of cookies on your device.

- d) Social Networking Cookies. These cookies allow users to share content on social media platforms, and help link activities between a website and third-party sharing platforms.
- e) Behaviourally Targeted Advertising Cookies. These cookies record your visits to our website, the pages you have visited and the links you have followed. They are specifically designed to gather information from users on their devices to display advertisements based on relevant topics of interest. They are also used to limit the number of times you see an advertisement as well as to help measure the effectiveness of the advertising campaign. These cookies remember that you have visited our website and use this information to tailor advertising for our Services when you visit third-party websites. The information on the users gathered by these cookies may be shared with other advertisers to measure the performance of their advertisements. We may also share this information with third-parties for this purpose. They are mainly third-party cookies on our website, and are placed by advertising networks.

NOTE: This clause 3 is a description of the types of cookies that may be saved on a website. It should not be excepted as an indication of the cookies that are currently on our website. Please always be aware of the cookies we use by using the table below as a point of reference. Note further that there may also be cookies present on our website that are not classified into a specific category, which are known as Unclassified Cookies. These are cookies that are in the process of being classified.
