Ghost Recon Wildlands is not difficult to find the scope of the best elite and elite shooters, but the game only begins with players who have achieved a very limited selection of weapons. What is good in wild areas is that every weapon can be made from the start, including the best sniper rifle. Please note that better weapons are often protected by stronger enemies.

Fracture is certainly one of the best tactics in the head of Recon Wildlands.

If you can get a number of enemies for the task if you stay away from the danger, you should certainly have the opportunity. What kind of sniper rifle would be L115A3 for the best series of sniper rifles and snipers in the wild. The best range is for personal preferences, but the range of the T5Xi tactical elite shooter offers most zoom range from up to 6x to 6x. Alternatively, the digital area also offers important advantages. Don't worry, we will explain to you how to receive the three articles. Note: If you want to collect these items, you would like a helicopter. It is light enough to find. Take a look at the card for the helicopter symbol, jump to someone and fly. Pay attention to enemy helicopters that protect the sky and are high enough to recognize the units of the earth. The L115A3 is located on the north side of the map in the Monte Pucca region. The sniper rifle is located directly in the area, which is marked directly on the map below. Be sure to listen to your teammates because you are on the arms box. In the Monte Pucca region you can still find one of the questions to highlight all weapons. Sniper G28 Rifle: The modern and German elite semi-automatic rifle is defined as a rifle. You can save him in a cartel prison in a deep canyon north of San Mateo.

There is a Carcel del Pueblo mission nearby. If you approach north of the main northern entrance, the gunman behind the base. This base is very overcrowded, and when you enter the main gate and pass the first base, you build a mountain gate in the canyon and you have the main base. I accidentally paid attention, but it was perfectly successful by pointing enemies to the point of the sinking canyon and pulling them out of the shelter behind it.

The map shows the western base, making it much closer to the ammo and perhaps easier to access.

G28 is a good, long -distance elite rifle and can pull out half the weeds as quickly as you can press the trigger. The standard tray is a good 10 rounds with a 20 -year box. At the Landet core core. Saykter Neshe Zurnot identified Access point La Carcel Del Pueblo. We approached the target area from the north as we tried. Land above the gorge and use the drone to survey the area. The place marked "down" on the map is a good way to descend the gorge without getting hurt. As you can probably tell from your drone, there is a patrol and two snipers waiting for you. One of these snipers is far away and at first glance it doesn't matter. Kill two nearby enemies with the silencer. Now slowly make your way to the weapon crate, occasionally using the drone to unmask enemies. Roughly follow the blue path in the image. If you have to kill someone, you should play it safe and not take any chances. Get into a good firing position where you can see the target well and get the kill. In case you missed it, there are various alarms that are quickly triggered by enemies.

Destroys enemies in the direct path to the target building. In the marked cabin you will find a G28 weapon box and an ammo box next to it. If you want to be safe, escape the same way.

To test the weapon, you can stand outside - there are enough enemies there. Comparison: G28 vs. HTI If we compare two popular sniper rifles in the community, the differences become obvious. During the test, we compared the HTI and G28 guns in the standard version.

Cons G28 has significantly less damage Lower (poor) accuracy lower range and smaller penetration radius Positive Higher maneuverability Significantly higher fire risk Significantly higher noise reduction The G28 was already predicted to be quieter than the monster HTI. The game's high rate of fire needs to be experienced and experienced for yourself as it is a dedicated semi-automatic sniper rifle. As a result, it fires much faster than other sniper rifles and has a high rate of fire reminiscent of a slow (low ammo) assault rifle.
