Dear Friends,
We are having a busy and productive November and December. Three of us are in the process of hand delivering 800 glossy, four color invitations to our December Christmas services. Each invitation has as much of the Gospel printed on the back as we could fit. We also held our annual Christmas fellowship. We use this fellowship as an evangelistic tool and put a lot into it.
We have had several new visitors and return visitors over the last few weeks. Please, continue to pray for Wayne who calls himself an agnostic. He has come to several special services and has responded positively to sermons that were pointed about Jesus as the Son of God and Messiah. We also have had a Persian man attending. He calls himself Mike, though that is not his real name. When I asked him about his beliefs, he stated that he is still considering Christianity, though he claims to follow "all the good teachers", including "Moses, Jesus, Muhammad and others". He said that he believes in God and the Son of God, and he came to us looking for a teacher "who is close to God". We were able to give him his first Bible, which he is reading daily.

Mike

We had a small turn out at our Christmas fellowship. I had four people help me perform a skit where everything is wrapped in Christmas paper (including my face), with the message to be thankful for what God gives us daily. I preached a short, pointed sermon about the shepherds receiving the promise of Micah 4:8 at Migdal Eder and then about them publishing that message. Our recent Sunday morning service numbers were down, but our Persian fellow came for the 5th week in a row. 6 ladies from the prayer group sang a special. Then, our ladies' prayer group gave our family $150, which really helped as we were out of money for groceries at the time. I preached from James 1:17 on every good and perfect gift and how that Jesus used this description of Himself in John 8: 12, 23,24,28, 58: "I AM the light"; "I AM from above"; you must believe that "I Am"; you will know that "I AM"; "I AM" ever existing (as that good and perfect gift delivered and wrapped Luke 2).
Afterward, the Persian gentleman said that it was good. We pray that his eyes will be open.

Serving the Lord,

Pastor Jonathan Oehlert
